When a suitable home is found, the address of the previous owner is not disclosed to the person adopting the dog as this may cause problems in the future. If the owner chooses to disclose their name and address to the new owner, the CSCoS Rescue cannot accept any responsibility for problems which may ensue.

The new owner is asked to pay a donation to The Cocker Spaniel Club of Scotland Rescue Scheme and although we cannot always visit prospective homes, we do ask for a letter of recommendation from the new owner's Veterinary Surgeon.
